

General shelf life information

The general shelf life information for our adhesive tapes products is mentioned in the technical data sheet for each product.

To ensure the optimal technical performance of the products, our general storing conditions (in original packaging, at 20° C and 50% relative humidity) must be adhered to.

Special shelf life information on spooling material

Due to the the nature and requirements of the spooled product converting form, shelf life of spooling material is restricted to 6 months from date of delivery.

The storing of spooled adhesive tape materials must be done vertically and in original packaging. To ensure this is observed we include storing instructions on our packaging (arrows or labels).

This shelf life information is based on our know-how and experience. It does not explain all application aspects to be taken into account. The user is expected to have subject-specific knowledge and know-how. Given the large number of potential influences resulting from processing, bonding and use, we recommend that you conduct tests on our products before using them for special applications. Our data does not imply any guarantee of specific properties.
